UNC Women's Basketball
1993-94 NCAA Champions

Sunday afternoon, April 3, 1994, Richmond Coliseum, Richmond, Virginia...11,966 in attendance...0.7 seconds left on the game clock...the Lady Tar Heels trail by two points to Louisiana Tech...UNC has the ball out of bounds...Stephanie Lawrence lobs the ball to teammate Charlotte Smith just behind the three point line...Smith shoots...and the rest is history! The 60-59 win gave the Lady Tar Heels their first NCAA women's basketball title and, also a first for an ACC women's basketball team. With a 33-2 record (the most wins ever for a Tar Heel women's team) and a breathtaking last shot, the Lady Tar Heels ended a phenomenal season capturing the NCAA Championship! Congratulations to Charlotte Smith for winning the ESPY Awards as the women's college basketball player of the year and for the college basketball play of the year.

On Sunday, November 20, 1994 the Lady Tar Heels extended their winning tradition, defeating Notre Dame 5-0, again capturing the NCAA title. The championship game was played at Merlo Field, in Portland, Oregon. The Lady Tar Heels have an unbelievable record of 340 wins, 14 losses, and 10 ties, in the history of the program. It's been said before and worth repeating, "What an amazing accomplishment by a truly talented and unequalled team.....You're in a league of your own!"

In Memoriam

Robert R. Cornwell

1928 - 1994

This edition of the UNC Fact Book is dedicated to Mr. Robert R. Cornwell who passed away suddenly April 29, 1994. Mr. Cornwell joined the staff in the Office of the University Registrar in 1972 following a distinguished Navy career, and he remained with the Registrar's Office until 1989 when he accepted a position with the Office of Institutional Research. Bob contributed to the work of this office and to the greater University in many ways - - he was the resident-expert on the student information system; he was a superb researcher/programmer in the use of SAS; and, he was an untiring sleuth in the pursuit of inaccurate data. In addition to all this, one of the most valuable contributions that Bob made to the office and University every year was the UNC Fact Book. For this reason and because he was our dear friend and colleague, we dedicate the 1994-95 edition of the UNC Fact Book to his memory.

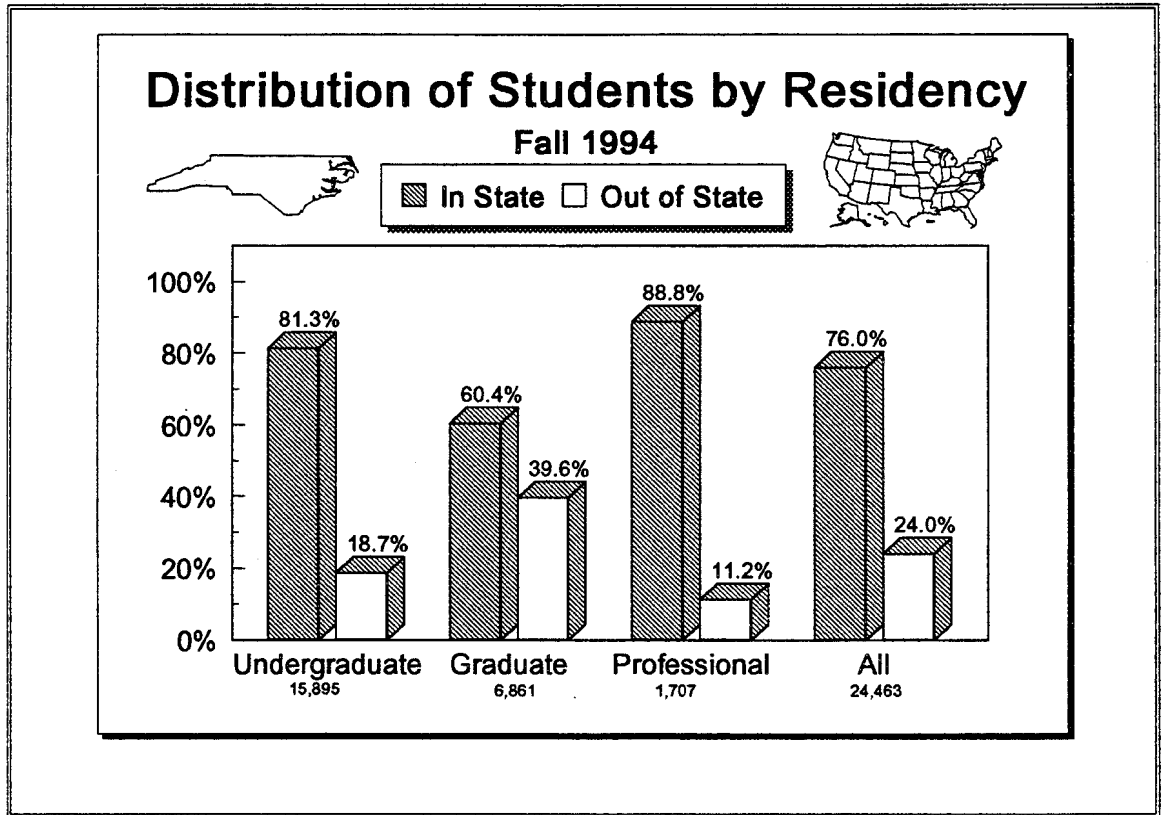

Figure 5 and Table 5 show the distribution of Fall enrollment by residence for tuition purposes. At the undergraduate and professional levels, the students are predominantly in-state at over 80%. At the graduate level the in-state/ out-of-state ratio (60.4%/39.6%) is less disparate.

Figure 6 and Table 6 show the distribution of students by school, level, and full/part time status. Undergraduates and professional students are more than 90% full-time while graduate students are nearly equally divided. For the total enrollment, 80.8% are full-time and 19.2% are part-time. As would be expected, the largest number of part-time students are enrolled in Continuing Studies.

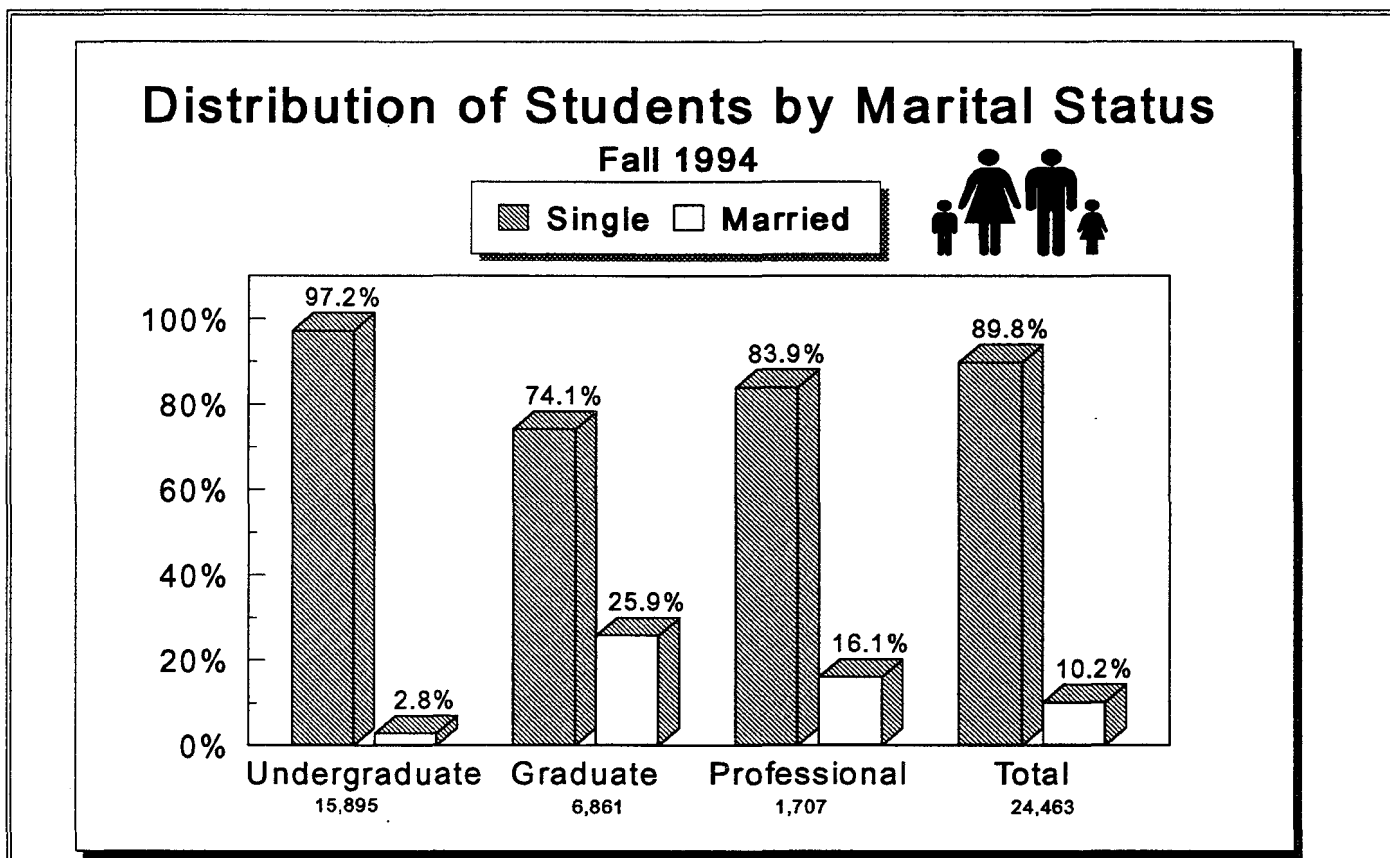

Figure 7 and Table 7 show the distribution of students by school, level, and marital status. Overall, only slightly more than a tenth of UNC's students are married. The percentage of married students increases for graduate students and decreases for undergraduates. Percentages for professional students reflect the breakdown for the total student population.

*Active programs in which these 280 students are enrolled.

During the 1994-95 academic year, a total of 280 UNC-Chapel Hill students are studying abroad. Nearly 81% of these students are studying in Western Europe and Australia.

Distribution by Class Level

Level	Number/Percentage of Students
Freshman	0
Sophomore	53 (19%)
Junior	149 (53%)
Senior	56 (20%)
Graduate	22 (8%)

Following tradition, most students who study abroad do so during their junior year. Graduate students represent a relatively small portion of this group.

Distribution by Ethnicity

Ethnic Group	Number/Percentage of Students	Percentage of Total Student Body
White	253 (90%)	82%
Asian	15 (5%)	4%
Hispanic	6 (2%)	1%
African American	6 (2%)	9%
Native American	0 (0%)	1%
Non-Resident Alien	0 (0%)	3%

While the representation of women who study abroad is roughly proportionate to the female composition of the student body (59% and 58% respectively), there is less balance in ethnic representation. Notably, proportionately more white students and fewer African American students are studying abroad.

MISSION STATEMENT
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has been built by the people of the State and has existed for two centuries as the nation's first state university. Through its excellent undergraduate programs, it has provided higher education to ten generations of students, many of whom have become leaders of the State and nation. Since the nineteenth century, it has offered distinguished graduate and professional programs.

The University is a research university. Fundamental to this designation is a faculty actively involved in research, scholarship, and creative work, whose teaching is transformed by discovery and whose service is informed by current knowledge.

The mission of the University is to serve all the people of the State, and indeed the nation, as a center for scholarship and creative endeavor. The University exists to teach students at all levels in an environment of research, free inquiry, and personal responsibility; to expand the body of knowledge; to improve the condition of human life through service and publication; and to enrich our culture.

To fulfill this mission, the University must: (1) acquire, discover, preserve, synthesize, and transmit knowledge; (2) provide high quality undergraduate instruction to students within a community engaged in original inquiry and creative expression, while committed to intellectual freedom, to personal integrity and justice, and to those values that foster enlightened leadership for the State and nation; (3) provide graduate and professional programs of national distinction at the doctoral and other advanced levels to future generations of research scholars, educators, professionals, and informed citizens; (4) extend knowledge-based services and other resources of the University to the citizens of North Carolina and their institutions to enhance the quality of life for all people in the State; and (5) address, as appropriate, regional, national, and international needs.

This mission imposes special responsibilities upon the faculty, students, staff, administration, trustees, and other governance structures and constituencies of the University in their service and decision-making on behalf of the University.
